A three bedroomed end terraced house in need of modernisation. Central heating is gas fired and uPVC double glazed windows are installed throughout. Constructed circa 1900 the property was re-foofed with interlocking tiles approximately 40 years ago. The rooms are spacious and there is considerable potential for improvement as a family house.

The accommodation provides, on the ground floor, front sitting room, dining room and kitchen. There is a basement with three cellar compartments. The first floor provides an inner landing, three bedrooms, lobby and a bathroom.

Outside there is an enclosed rear yard and a wash house.

The property is situated adjacent to the Methodist Church and within a residential area. The location is opposite Northgate Retail Park and close to the East Coast main line railway station, and within comfortable walking distance of Newark Town Centre.

The main building is constructed with 225mm solid brick walls under a pitched roof covered by concrete interlocking tiles. Central heating is gas fired and the following accommodation is provided:
