Property Description

A three-bedroom end-of-terrace home on Raymond Street, a short distance from Chester city centre. It has driveway parking, which is valuable this close to town, and gas central heating. It would suit first-time buyers, small families or investors.

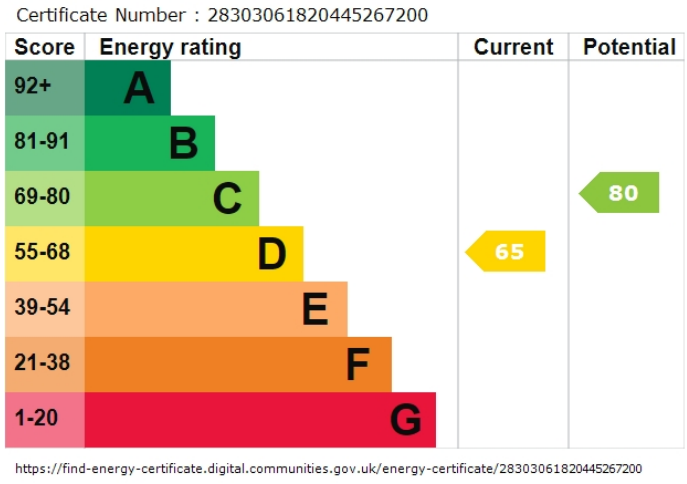

The accommodation is well proportioned, with three bedrooms and a family bathroom. Being at the end of the terrace gives the house a little more privacy than a mid-terrace. The rooms are a practical shape and offer plenty of flexibility in how you furnish and use them.

Raymond Street is convenient for the city centre's shops, restaurants and leisure facilities, with local schools nearby. Chester railway station runs regular services to Liverpool, Manchester and London. The A55 and M53 are close by for those travelling further afield.
