"We've loved living here and particularly enjoy having woodland directly behind the garden, with so many great walking and running routes right on the doorstep. Being able to head straight out to the River Avon, Troopers Hill or Nightingale Valley has been a real highlight. The garden has been a fantastic space for gardening, entertaining friends and family, and spending time outdoors, and it has worked really well for our two cats. Having two genuinely good-sized double bedrooms has also been a real advantage, with the second room providing flexible space for home working as well as hosting guests. Listening to records in the front room has become a favourite Sunday tradition and one of the things we'll miss most about the house."
