Set within a private communal garden square, the apartment enjoys a peaceful outlook over beautifully maintained gardens, tucked away from the bustle yet only a short stroll from the market, cafés and boutiques that define the neighbourhood.

Inside, the space has been thoughtfully arranged. An open plan kitchen and reception forms the social heart of the home, finished with clean lines and detailing. Upstairs, a generous second reception room is currently arranged as a sleeping area, offering flexibility for guests, work or additional living space. The principal bedroom sits on the lower floor and is filled with natural light, served by a well appointed family bathroom.

Wesley Square, built in 1979, is an intimate development of just fifty houses, maisonettes and apartments. The residents collectively own the freehold and take an active role in the stewardship of the square, creating a genuine sense of community and neighbourly warmth that is increasingly rare in central London.

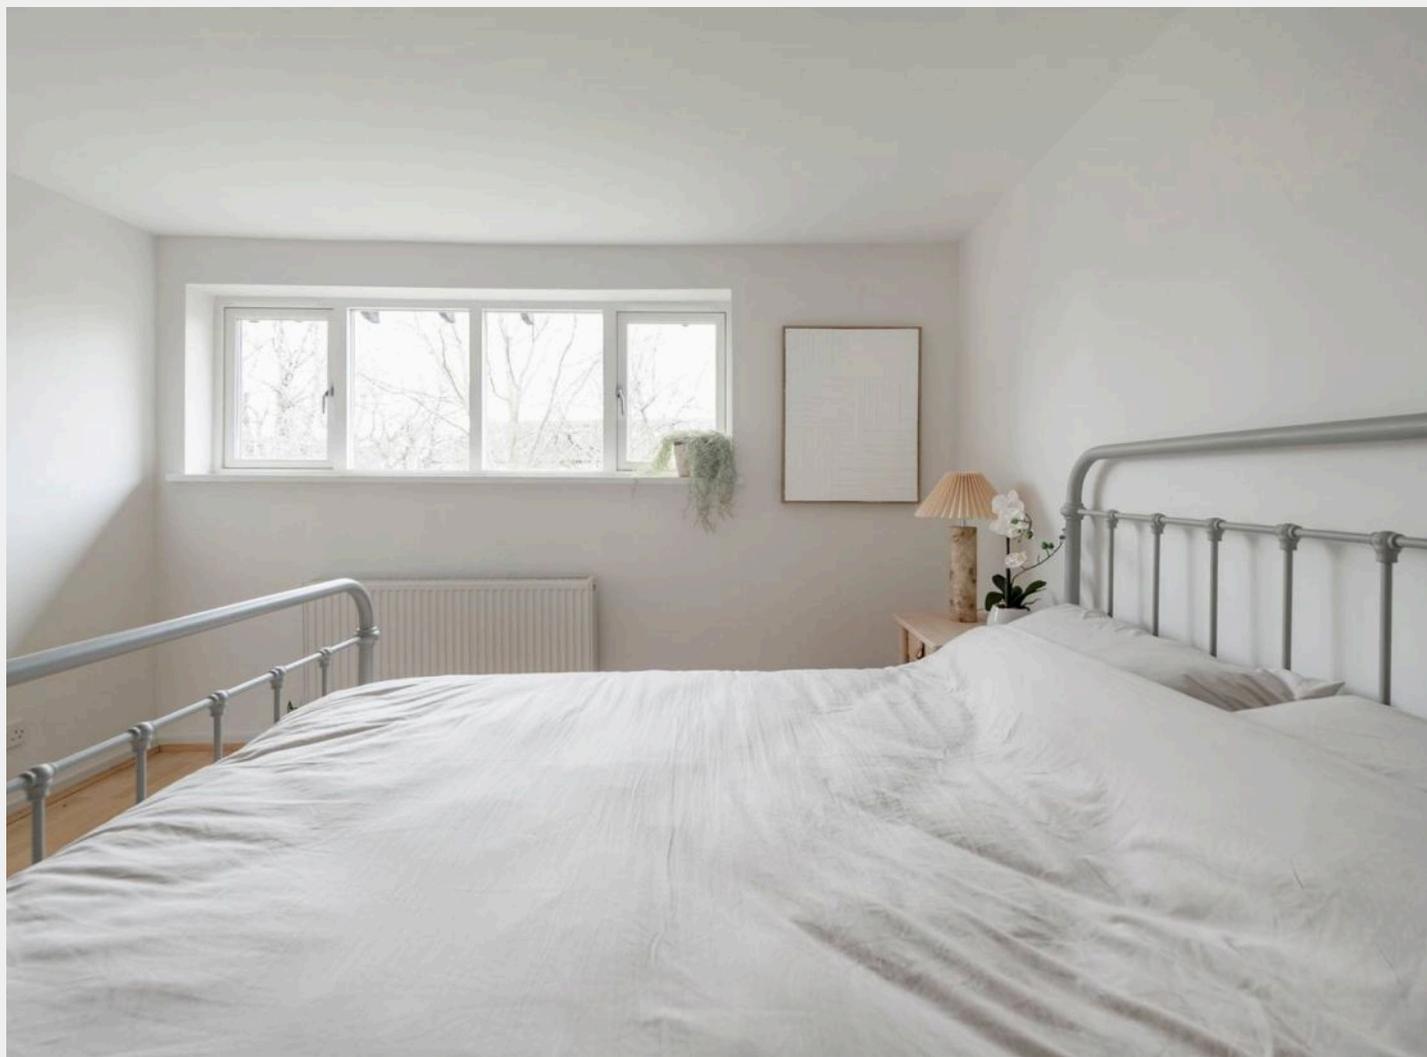

Wesley Square is a private development located on Lancaster Road, in close proximity to the fantastic boutiques, cafes and restaurants of Golborne Road and Portobello Road along with Ladbroke Grove underground station for the Hammersmith & City and Circle line.
