This charming well-presented three bedroom period terraced home presents an excellent opportunity to purchase a family home, offering a blend of character features and modern convenience. The property boasts two spacious reception rooms, providing versatile spaces for relaxation and entertaining guests. The well-appointed kitchen leads to a ground floor bathroom and utility area, while a separate shower room is conveniently located on the first floor. There are also three bedrooms. A cellar provides valuable additional space. The inclusion of parking is a rare benefit in this popular residential location. Throughout the property, period details are complemented by tasteful updates, creating a welcoming atmosphere that combines the best of traditional and contemporary living. Whether you are looking to upsize, downsize, or secure your first family home, this property offers flexibility to suit a range of lifestyles and a viewing is highly advised.
