We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

 GUIDE PRICE £565,000 - £585,000 ***

This immaculately presented and thoughtfully extended four bedroom detached home offers an exceptional blend of style, space and modern family living. At the heart of the property lies a truly impressive open plan kitchen, dining and family room, beautifully designed to create a light-filled and sociable space. Featuring a striking large island unit, sleek contemporary finishes, expansive sliding doors opening onto the garden and stylish roof lights above, this area is perfectly suited for both everyday living and entertaining. Complementing this is a separate, inviting lounge boasting a charming bay window and a cosy log burner, providing the perfect retreat for quieter evenings. Upstairs, the property offers three double bedrooms, including a superb principal bedroom with its own Ensuite. A modern family bathroom serves the remaining bedrooms, alongside the added convenience of two further WCs. Externally, the home benefits from ample off road parking and a well maintained setting. Ideally located, the property is within easy reach of highly regarded schools, local amenities and excellent transport links. A truly outstanding home that must be viewed to be fully appreciated.
