Harkness Drive
Canterbury

Property Description

This attractive, modern detached Georgian style property set back from the road in Harkness Drive would make a great family home or would be ideal as a student let as it is less than a mile from the University of Kent. It is deceptively large and currently configured to provide seven bedrooms for students including two on the ground floor together with a shower room, kitchen and a lounge/diner. The garage is being used as a large storage area for students' bikes and other paraphernalia but could always become a garage again.

If you wanted to transform it into a family home it would be simple to turn the ground floor bedrooms into living accommodation including a study/playroom and a separate dining room. The kitchen is modern and well fitted and includes a built in oven and hob. While the good sized lounge/diner is light and spacious with windows at each end and a glazed door with floor to ceiling window panels opening onto the terrace. Upstairs there are five further bedrooms together with a large shower room.

Outside the low maintenance fenced garden with a terrace is an ideal spot for inviting friends over for a barbecue in the summer. There is also a good sized lawn surrounded by shrub borders, while at the front of the property you will find a lawn, flower borders, external access to the back of the house and a high hedge providing privacy, as well as a drive leading to the garage with off road parking
