About The Property

Looking for a three-bedroom detached bungalow in a friendly village setting close to Cardigan? This well-laid-out home offers comfortable living space, private parking, a detached garage, mature gardens, and lovely views – all with plenty of potential to modernise to individual taste.

A spacious three-bedroom detached bungalow, set within the popular village of Penparc, just a short distance from Cardigan town. This property offers plenty of potential for anyone looking to update and make it their own, while already providing a comfortable layout, practical living spaces, and some lovely views of the surrounding area.

At the front, a private tarmacked driveway provides parking for up to four cars and leads to a detached garage. The front garden has a mix of gravelled and paved areas, edged with mature shrubs that give a nice sense of greenery without demanding too much upkeep.

Through the sliding glass doors is the porch area – a bright glass-fronted space that works well as a small seating area or a spot for growing potted plants. It's a nice transition into the main hallway, which has attractive L-shaped parquet flooring that sets a warm tone as soon as one enters the home.

To the right, the lounge continues the parquet theme and centres around a feature fireplace with decorative mirrors on either side. The room enjoys natural light from both a bay window at the front and an additional side window, giving it a comfortable and homely feel.

Moving back into the hallway, the kitchen sits to the rear of the bungalow. It's fitted with a range of base and wall units, and the layout makes good use of the available space. There's room for a dining table, along with space and plumbing for a dishwasher and a freestanding electric cooker.

The kitchen has part wood-panelled walls and a feature section of wood panelling on the ceiling, giving it a traditional touch. From here, there are lovely far-reaching views across the surrounding landscape – a real bonus that adds a sense of openness to the room.

Off the kitchen is the rear sunroom, which overlooks the back garden. This room provides access outside and also connects through to the shower room, fitted with a w/c, sink, and electric shower. There's also a door leading into the spacious utility room, which includes built-in storage cupboards and plumbing for a washing machine. Altogether, this rear section of the bungalow works well for day-to-day living, offering flexible and functional space for laundry, storage, or garden access.

Back in the main hallway, the family bathroom has been modernised and includes a bath and sink, complemented by tiled walls. There's also a separate w/c with its own sink, also modernised, which adds convenience for a busy household.

Opposite the bathroom sits the dining room – a well-proportioned area that could be used for family meals, hobbies, or even as a study if preferred. The versatility of the layout is one of the bungalow's strengths, allowing the rooms to be arranged to suit different needs.

Towards the front of the property is the master bedroom, a generous double with built-in cupboards and a bay window that mirrors the lounge design. The second bedroom is also a double and features a built-in wardrobe, while the third bedroom is a single that would make a comfortable guest room or home office, this also benefits from a fitted wardrobe. Loft access can be found from the hallway, leading to a good-sized attic space offering further potential for storage.

Externally,

The bungalow connects neatly to the back garden through a side door, offering security and ease of access. The garden itself is a lovely mix of mature shrubs and trees, with several useful outbuildings providing space for garden tools and equipment. A paved patio area offers a pleasant place to sit and take in the views, making it a relaxing space to enjoy throughout the year.

Overall, this property represents a solid and well-laid-out home with a lot to offer. The structure and flow of the rooms make it comfortable and practical, and while some updating could bring it more in line with modern tastes, it's clear that care has been taken to maintain it over time. Its position within Penparc village adds to the appeal – close enough to Cardigan for easy access to shops, schools, and amenities, yet still offering a sense of space and community that village life brings.

There's a strong sense that this bungalow has been a well-loved home, and with a few thoughtful updates, it could easily become a place to enjoy for many years ahead. Whether for someone looking to downsize, find a home on one level, or create a base close to Cardigan, it offers an excellent balance of practicality, comfort, and opportunity.
