"I love the feeling when I take my bike out the front door in the morning, ready to cycle up to work or wherever I'm headed that day. There's a real feeling of freedom and convenience in being able to have my bike stored just inside my front door while also living right in the middle of everything, so that anywhere I'm likely to go is less than half an hour's cycle away and often a lot closer. Time spent in the kitchen is also lovely."
