A beautifully presented Grade II listed Victorian family house arranged over four floors, combining elegant contemporary interiors with exceptional original period features. Thoughtfully renovated, the house

The heart of the home is a bespoke kitchen with Carrara marble worktops, opening onto a generous dining and family space overlooking the south-facing garden. A separate utility room, bespoke cabinetry, solid wood flooring and original fireplaces reflect the quality of the renovation and the character of the house.

The first-floor reception room is filled with natural light from impressive floor-to-ceiling sash windows and features a working gas fireplace beneath a magnificent English cut-glass chandelier dating from circa 1860. A further double bedroom and beautifully appointed family bathroom with underfloor heating and distinctive hand painted Mexican tiles.

The principal bedroom occupies the top floor and includes bespoke dressing room with a stand alone roll top bat tub.

The area is remarkable for its transport connections. St Pancras International has the Eurostar link to continental Europe whilst King's Cross, has main line connections to the North. The redeveloped Farringdon Station has the new Elizabeth Line with a fast link to Heathrow airport and
