Title Register Restrictions

The owner must not do anything on the property that causes a nuisance or annoyance to the neighbours or the previous owners of the wider estate. The property cannot be used for the sale of petrol or as a car wash while the neighbouring land is being used as a petrol station. The owner cannot claim a legal right to light or air if a neighbour builds a structure that blocks it, as the previous owners gave permission for such building to occur.

There are rules in the lease that prevent the property from being sold or transferred if certain legal procedures are not followed. The property was originally restricted to being used only as a house, shop, or hotel extension, though some of these rules have been officially relaxed over time.
