Campfield Rough

Duddleswell, Uckfield

A magnificent 4 bedroom 2 bathroom detached country home with a detached studio/home office, grass tennis court and detached triple garage all within 2.5 acres of parklike grounds situated in an enviable position in the Ashdown Forest.

Campfield Rough lies in a beautiful and completely secluded position, believed to have been built in 1840 and significantly enlarged in 1911. The property has been much improved by the current owners and boasts impressive Edwardian carved panelled features. The gardens and grounds host a number of mature trees as well as several types of Acer, a Pieris, Gingko, Eucryphia and Eucalyptus. Within the grounds is a 345 sq ft studio/home office which has a separate WC and found nearby is the grass tennis court.

The property is entered via a central hallway with a cloakroom and a double aspect study. The drawing room is a distinguishing feature of the property having an imposing carved panelled fireplace with an attractive bay window enjoying a fine aspect of the gardens. The dining room has similar features and a tile slate floor which continues throughout the ground floor. The kitchen/breakfast room is made up by a matching range of oak units with granite work surfaces, integrated appliances and halogen six ring range.
