Location

May Cottage sits in Sockbridge, part of the joint civil parish of Sockbridge and Tirril, on the edge of the Lake District National Park between Penrith and Ullswater. The neighbouring village of Tirril — a short walk away — is home to the Queen's Head Inn, an 18th-century pub with historic links to poet William Wordsworth, whose brother once owned it and whose grandfather lived nearby at Sockbridge Hall. The Queen's Head today offers real ale, home-cooked pub food and seven en-suite guest rooms, making it a popular local hub for food, drink and a bit of history on the doorstep.

Ullswater is around 2.5–3 miles away, with Penrith (and M6 Junction 40) roughly 3–4 miles distant, giving easy access to both the lake and the town. A local bus service connects Sockbridge/Tirril to Pooley Bridge, Penrith and, in summer, as far as Windermere, and there are numerous surrounding footpaths, including the Eamont Way, for walking straight from the door.
