Description

A beautifully refurbished three-bedroom apartment set at the top of a landmark red-brick mansion, on one of South Kensington's finest tree-lined streets.

The open-plan living space is the heart of the home. Dramatic pitched ceilings and a glazed roof light fill it with natural light, and full-height glass doors open directly onto a private decked terrace. The sleek handleless kitchen has integrated appliances and a striking waterfall island in white veined marble, with seating for four. Herringbone oak floors run throughout.

The principal bedroom is generous, with twin windows over the treetops, fitted wardrobes and a marble en-suite with a bath and separate walk-in shower. Two further double bedrooms are served by a family bathroom with a twin-basin walnut vanity and frameless shower.

Gloucester Road and South Kensington stations, the museums of Exhibition Road and Hyde Park are all within easy reach.
