An exceptional and substantial period family home arranged across three floors, offering approximately 3,364 sq ft (313 sqm) of beautifully proportioned living space.

Comprising five bedrooms, three bathrooms, two reception rooms, a gym, steam room, study, and a self-contained studio, this is a rare opportunity to acquire a truly versatile residence of considerable scale in one of North London's most coveted postcodes.

The layout- spanning a ground floor, basement, and a separate studio level, lends itself naturally to multi-generational living or those who require dedicated workspace at home.

The principal reception and open-plan kitchen/dining room provide outstanding entertaining space, while the basement level adds further flexibility with a gym, steam sauna, and a second reception.

Grand Period Home in the Heart of South Hampstead

South Hampstead is one of North London's most coveted enclaves a network of picturesque, tree-lined roads sitting between fashionable Hampstead, West Hampstead and St John's Wood.

The area is characterised by its striking red-brick Victorian and Edwardian homes, quiet communal gardens and a relaxed village-like atmosphere that belies its exceptional connectivity.

Transport links are outstanding. South Hampstead Overground reaches London Euston in minutes, while Finchley Road (Jubilee & Metropolitan) and Swiss Cottage (Jubilee) are both within easy walking distance.

Residents enjoy an excellent selection of independent shops, restaurants and cafés, with Waitrose, two cinemas and a sports centre all nearby on Finchley Road.

Primrose Hill, Hampstead Heath and Regent's Park are all within easy reach, as are some of London's finest schools. both state and private.
