IF YOU LIVED HERE...

The exterior sets a graceful introduction with classic brickwork and windows framed by period detailing. A handsome bay projection adds depth and character, giving the frontage an immediate charm that feels timeless and welcoming. Stepping inside, the hallway leads through with a natural sense of continuity as the staircase draws the eye upwards. Decorative features overhead subtly echo the home's heritage, while two understairs cupboards provide concealed storage. The reception unfolds from here, its bay window framed by shutters creating a striking focal point. A traditional fireplace is flanked by shelving and cabinetry, bringing both presence and practicality. As the room continues towards the garden, French doors encourage a natural connection with the outdoors, and pale timber boards keep the setting feeling harmonious and versatile.

The kitchen continues the home's rhythm, arranged to encourage comfortable movement and everyday usability. Generous work surfaces and smoothly integrated cabinetry offer a composed backdrop, while a wide window draws in soft daylight and frames a pleasant outlook. Gentle tones in the flooring and units lend warmth, suited to anything from quick weekday meals to relaxed weekend gatherings. Beyond, the garden provides an outdoor retreat with paved and gravelled areas, mature planting and corners that can be shaped to personal preference.

Upstairs, the landing includes a storage cupboard and leads to two bedrooms and the bathroom. The front bedroom features fitted wardrobes, twin windows and shutters, complemented by original floorboards for an understated feel. The second bedroom is equally attractive, with twin windows and a simple layout that lends itself well to different uses. Completing the level, the bathroom centres around a freestanding tub, with a broad window and a smooth, polished finish that gives it a quietly restorative atmosphere.
