Occupying a generous corner plot within the highly regarded village of Wilberfoss, this detached four-bedroom home offers an impressive level of flexibility, making it equally suited to families, those seeking multi-generational living or buyers looking for space to work from home.

The village itself continues to be one of the area's most sought-after locations, offering a range of everyday amenities including a village shop, post office, public house and primary school, whilst remaining conveniently placed for commuting to York, Pocklington and the surrounding villages.

The internal accommodation extends to approximately 1,300 sq. ft. and has been thoughtfully arranged to provide a variety of living options. At the heart of the home is a spacious living room, complemented by a separate dining room and a brand new kitchen finished to a high standard. A conservatory provides a pleasant additional reception area overlooking the garden and creates an ideal space for relaxing throughout the year.

One of the standout features of the property is its adaptable layout. The ground floor incorporates a further reception room, bedroom and bathroom, creating the potential for guest accommodation, independent living for a family member, a dedicated home office suite or simply additional living space to suit changing requirements.

To the first floor are three well-proportioned bedrooms, together with a modern family bathroom and separate W.C.

Outside, the property enjoys attractive wraparound gardens which have been carefully maintained and provide a pleasant setting with a good degree of privacy. The driveway offers ample off-street parking and leads to a detached garage, providing excellent storage and practicality.

Properties offering this level of flexibility in such a well-connected village setting are rarely available, making this a fantastic opportunity for buyers seeking a home capable of adapting to their lifestyle for years to come.
