OFFERED WITH NO ONWARD CHAIN

Set behind a gated entrance and surrounded by beautifully established gardens, Little Thatch is a distinctive historic home offering a wonderful blend of period charm, generous accommodation and an impressive array of additional facilities. The grounds are believed to measure just under a third of an acre, creating a particularly private setting in this sought-after and convenient part of Corfe Mullen.

Thought to originate from around 1630, this charming Grade II Listed cottage has been thoughtfully extended over time, resulting in a home that combines its original architectural character with the space and flexibility required for contemporary living. Its traditional thatched roof, exposed timbers and character fireplaces provide a lovely sense of history, while the overall accommodation is considerably more extensive than its charming exterior might suggest.

The heart of the home is a spacious kitchen and dining room, complemented by a substantial sitting room and an inviting central snug. The ground floor also benefits from a double bedroom with en suite facilities, a separate study and an additional bathroom, creating excellent potential for independent living arrangements or accommodating visiting family. Three further rooms and a shower room occupy the first floor.

Outside, the property continues to impress. The private driveway provides extensive parking behind a five-bar gate, while mature planting, sweeping lawns and several attractive seating and entertaining areas make the gardens a particularly special feature. A collection of useful outbuildings includes a powered home office, bar room, summerhouse, greenhouse and extensive storage.
