“

If you are looking for a charming, turn key, period home, then look no further. Exquisitely refurbished from top to bottom, it will be love at first sight.

This elegant period home exudes character and is combined with the perfect balance of modern living. The traditional frontage, bay window and detailing give it real kerb appeal, while inside, the accommodation has been thoughtfully refurbished from top to bottom. The attention to detail throughout the house is incredible, from the brass fittings, traditional radiators, herringbone flooring, wool carpets, paneling, cornicing and traditional style skirting - no detail has been left out.

The ground floor has a spacious layout, with a generous dining area flowing through to the kitchen creating a wonderful space for everyday life and entertaining. The kitchen sits neatly open to the dining area with contemporary cabinetry and a practical layout that keeps everything connected while retaining distinct areas for cooking and dining. Herringbone flooring runs throughout, adding warmth and character, while the neutral décor and paneling give the rooms a timeless feel. The separate living room has an open fireplace and built in shelving to the alcove.

Upstairs, the property offers three well proportioned double bedrooms and two bathrooms, laid out over two floors providing flexible accommodation for family life, guests or those needing space to work from home. Both the family bathroom and en suite shower room have been beautifully designed with sumptuous tiling in tones that make them feel luxurious.

Outside the rear garden is a real sun trap, with it's Southerly facing aspect. There is a deck to the rear of the garden which is the ideal spot for BBQ's and soaking up the summer sunshine.
