We have tried to make sure that these particulars are accurate but, to a large extent, we have to rely on what the seller tells us about the property. Once you find the property you want to buy, you will need to carry out more investigations into the property than it is practical or reasonable for an estate agent to do when preparing sales particulars. For example, we have not carried out any kind of survey of the property to look for structural defects and would advise any homebuyer to obtain a surveyor's report before exchanging contracts. If you do not have your own surveyor, we would be pleased to recommend one. We have not checked whether any equipment in the property (such as central heating) is in working order and would advise homebuyers to check this. You should also instruct a solicitor to investigate all legal matters relating to the property (e.g. title, planning permission, etc) as these are specialist matters in which estate agents are not qualified. Your solicitor will also agree with the seller what items (e.g. carpets, curtains, etc) will be included in the sale.

 GUIDE PRICE £550,000 to £565,000 ***

An attractive period detached family home blending character and modern living, set behind a newly laid brick driveway with a side garage providing power and rear access to the garden. A welcoming porch leads into a grand entrance hallway with a convenient ground floor WC. The bay fronted dining room sits at the front of the property, while a cosy sitting room at the rear flows into a stylish modern fitted kitchen, creating a comfortable and practical living space. Upstairs offers four well proportioned bedrooms served by a contemporary shower room. The home retains charming period features while incorporating thoughtful modern updates throughout. Outside, the mature and private rear garden enjoys far reaching views from its elevated position. Ideally located in a highly desirable area, the property is well connected with reputable schools nearby, along with easy access to the hospital, town centre and local bus routes.
