About The Property

Looking for a spacious four-bedroom detached, split level bungalow with far-reaching countryside views, established gardens and an interesting split-level interior? High View offers approximately 200 sq m of accommodation, an impressive 8-metre living room with exposed stone chimney breast, detached garage, ample parking and a rural setting within reach of Crymych and the Cardigan Bay coast.

High View is a spacious, well maintained, four-bedroom detached split level bungalow, sitting within the Pembrokeshire Coast National Park, enjoying an elevated rural setting with far-reaching countryside views, beautifully maintained gardens, ample off-road parking and a detached garage. This is a substantial home with an interesting split-level layout, generous living spaces and plenty of flexibility for family life.

The entrance hallway immediately gives the property a little more character than might be expected from a conventional bungalow. Ash flooring and a turned timber staircase connect the different levels of the accommodation, with the layout making good use of the property's setting and outlook.

One of the real highlights is the impressive living room, measuring approximately 8.02m in length. This is a wonderfully proportioned room with plenty of space for several seating areas, centred around a substantial exposed stone chimney breast with inset gas fire, which provides a strong focal point and adds warmth and character to the room.

Sliding glazed doors open directly onto the terrace and frame the far-reaching countryside views beyond the garden. This connection between the living room, outside space and surrounding landscape is one of High View's strongest features, with the outlook stretching across rolling fields, woodland and the wider West Wales countryside.

Sitting on the raised level above the living room is the dining room, creating an attractive relationship between the two spaces while still allowing each to have its own defined purpose. A roof light brings additional natural light into the dining area, while timber flooring and Ash balustrade complement the character of the room. There is comfortable space for a family-sized dining table, making this a practical area for everyday meals as well as entertaining.

The kitchen sits alongside the dining room and is fitted with a good range of cream gloss-fronted units, contrasting work surfaces and tiled flooring. There is plenty of preparation and storage space, together with a breakfast bar providing informal seating. Windows overlook the surrounding garden and countryside, and the kitchen feels practical and well organised.

Beyond the kitchen is a useful utility room, fitted with additional storage, work surfaces and provision for laundry appliances. There is also a separate WC, while access leads through to the covered rear porch. This enclosed area runs along the rear of the property and provides useful additional space as well as access to the garden.

The bedroom accommodation is grouped together away from the main living areas. There are four bedrooms, offering plenty of flexibility for a family, visiting relatives, hobbies or home working.

Bedroom one is a generous double and benefits from its own shower room with wash hand basin, while bedroom two is another well-proportioned double. Bedrooms three and four provide two further bedrooms, with the family bathroom conveniently positioned nearby. The arrangement works particularly well for those wanting plenty of bedroom accommodation without sacrificing the size of the main living areas.

Externally:

Outside, High View continues to make a strong impression. The gardens have clearly been carefully maintained over the years and include established shrubs, shaped evergreens, planted borders and well-kept lawn areas. The mature planting provides colour and structure around the property while still allowing the countryside outlook to take centre stage.

A paved terrace immediately outside the living room creates a natural seating area and is particularly well positioned for taking in the stunning, far reaching views. From here, the outlook stretches across the surrounding countryside, with the elevated position giving a wonderful sense of openness.

The gardens continue around the property with pathways, rockery-style planted areas and a variety of mature shrubs. There is also a separate summer house, providing another useful space within the grounds that could work well for hobbies, reading or simply enjoying the garden.

To the front and side is a broad tarmac parking area providing ample off-road parking, together with access to the detached garage, offering useful secure parking, workshop or general storage space.

High View is an interesting home that offers considerably more space than its bungalow description might initially suggest. The combination of its split-level interior, four bedrooms, impressive living room, detached garage, established gardens and far-reaching countryside views gives it plenty to set it apart. Viewing is recommended to fully appreciate both the scale of the accommodation and its rural setting.
