Situation
Tidworth is a well-established and growing garrison town situated in south-east Wiltshire, on the eastern edge of Salisbury Plain and close to the Hampshire border. The town has a strong military heritage and a thriving community, offering a good range of local amenities and facilities.

Tidworth benefits from a variety of shops, supermarkets, cafés, public houses, restaurants, schools, medical facilities and leisure amenities, including a modern leisure centre with swimming pool and fitness facilities. The nearby towns of Andover and Marlborough provide further shopping and recreational opportunities, whilst the cathedral city of Salisbury is also within convenient travelling distance.

The town is well positioned for road communications, with the A338 running through Tidworth and providing access to the A303, approximately 3 miles to the south. This offers convenient connections towards Andover, Salisbury, Basingstoke and the wider South West. The nearest mainline railway stations are at Andover and Grateley, providing services towards London Waterloo and the West Country.

Tidworth combines an established community, extensive local amenities and attractive surrounding countryside, making it a popular location for both civilian and military residents.
