

Streetview of Canalside South

Benefiting from a prime waterside position, this exemplary £150m development enjoys frontage onto both the Wyrley Essington Canal and the Wolverhampton Branch of the Birmingham Main Line Canal.

The vibrant waterside community will comprise:

378 two- and three-bedroom EPC-A rated townhouses	145 one- and two-bedroom apartments
1,338sqm Railway arches transecting the site are being reanimated into 1,338sqm (14,400 sq ft) of commercial amenity space	5 mins A new 5-minute walking route into the city core and Transport Interchange – the connected hub for bus, rail and metro services

7 acres
We're creating 7 acres of new open space

Access to the first two phases is via Qualcast Road, which will function as the primary Spine Road, seamlessly connecting all secondary routes within the development. Phase three will be accessed via Bailey Street.

A child wearing a helmet and a striped shirt is riding a bicycle away from the camera on a paved path. To the left of the path is a canal with several narrowboats moored along the bank. The background shows lush green trees and foliage, suggesting a park-like setting. The overall scene is bright and sunny, with a warm, golden light filtering through the trees.

LIFE AT THE WATER'S EDGE

Canalside South is one of the biggest regeneration projects of its kind in the West Midlands. The overall vision for Wolverhampton's Canalside masterplan is the delivery of around 1,000 homes to meet both the city and wider region's housing needs, with sustainability and place-making at its heart.

Andrew Chandler, Development Manager at the Canal River Trust, said: "This transformational canalside residential-led scheme will deliver well-connected walkways and quality public open spaces. The redevelopment of this vacant site will connect more people to the canals and to its rich biodiversity."

Designed by Glancy Nicholls Architects, this low-rise development will emulate the surrounding conservation area, maximise the canalside setting and include seven acres of vibrant green space.

"Canalside South will demonstrate the positive impact that water has on those who live and use the waterways, encouraging more people to engage with their local canal and show that life really is better by water."

GREEN LIVING

A high EPC rating is being targeted for Wolverhampton Canalside South to keep energy consumption and carbon emissions to a minimum.

Wolverhampton Canalside South will promote sustainability through the use of low carbon materials, modern methods of construction, and renewable energy generation.

Eco-focused features will include:

The development will see the retention of protected mature trees, together with a range of biodiverse enhancements.

AN INDUSTRIOUS CITY

Located 17 miles north of central Birmingham and with a population over 263,000 residents, Wolverhampton is the third largest city in the West Midlands (after Birmingham and Coventry).

The city economy thrives on engineering – including a large aerospace industry – and the service sector.

With the main campus less than a mile from Canalside South, the University of Wolverhampton has 29,400 students and 2,100 staff. It is 57th in the Times Higher Education World University Rankings, with notable assets including the National Brownfield Institute, the Thomas Telford University Technical College, the Elite Centre for Manufacturing Skills, the National Centre for Sustainable Construction and the University of Wolverhampton Science Park.

Wolverhampton's Green Innovation Corridor (part of the Government's West Midlands Investment Zone) is poised to enhance the city's reputation as a world-leading research cluster in green technologies. In addition, major regeneration initiatives, such as the City Learning Quarter are underway, transforming education and skills facilities for the benefit of local people.

Further contributing to Wolverhampton's appeal is the extensive investment in infrastructure and the visitor economy. The multi-million-pound refurbishment of The Halls Wolverhampton – the city's anchor music and entertainment venue operated by global entertainment giants AEG – draws 300,000 visitors annually.

THE JEWEL IN THE CROWN OF WOLVERHAMPTON'S RENAISSANCE

Canalside South's central, connected location will enable residents to stroll to major attractions and enjoy all that the city of Wolverhampton has to offer. For exploring the region, a 16-minute train journey takes you into Birmingham New Street, while a 30-minute drive leads to the charming Shropshire town of Bridgnorth.

This nationally significant prime development will become the jewel in the crown of Wolverhampton's renaissance. Cllr Stephen Simkins, Leader of City of Wolverhampton Council, said:

"This impressive scheme shows the game-changing regeneration the council and its partners are delivering in Wolverhampton."

As part of our brownfield first strategy, bringing life back to the redundant sites along our canal network is critical to boosting footfall into our city centre and building communities.

"Wavensmere Homes is delivering one of the largest new housing developments in the Midlands right here. Ultimately, this £150m project will enable Wolverhampton residents to benefit from superb connectivity, amenities, and health and wellbeing opportunities at this wonderful heritage location."

Richard Parker, Mayor of the West Midlands, said: "Wolverhampton desperately needs more homes and Canalside South is part of the solution to that. It's also why I have invested £20m into the scheme. But it's more than just bricks and mortar, Wavensmere is creating a thriving new community and shaping a bright future for this city."

"This impressive scheme shows the game-changing regeneration the council and its partners are delivering in Wolverhampton."

BOOMING BIRMINGHAM

IS MINUTES AWAY

Wolverhampton is a 16-minute train ride
from New Street Station.

Birmingham is an economic powerhouse and one of Western Europe's great modern cities. It's a mecca for food, culture, entertainment, sport, music, shopping, and a booming financial and professional services district.

The Birmingham Ripple Effect

Birmingham's recent surge in development has created opportunities and pressures that are spilling over to surrounding conurbations. Vying residents and investors are looking at Wolverhampton's more affordable property stock, which is driving up demand. For investors seeking high rental yields and capital growth potential, the average property prices are considerably cheaper than in Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM HIGHLIGHTS

Professional Services Sector

Birmingham is a major hub for professional services in the UK, particularly in finance and related sectors. It's the second-largest business, professional, and financial services (BPFS) cluster in the country, with significant growth and a large workforce. The city's BPFS sector employs over 53,000 people across around 4,400 companies, which is supported by a strong pipeline of graduates from the region's universities.

Entertainment

With a multitude of venues, the A-list put Birmingham on their world tour schedules. Every month it seems like more and more artistic talent is magnetised towards the UK's second city. In addition to music and theatre legends, some of the best comedians from across the globe head to character-rich venues like The Glee Club, Town Hall and Old Joint Stock Theatre.

HS2 is rolling in HS2 will revolutionise travel between Birmingham and London, with frequent 49-minute services easing up adjacent rail networks for local travel and freight. KPMG has estimated that the economic impact of HS2 will be in the region of £15billion per year. Curzon Street Station is due for completion in 2030, with the first passenger trains to the capital anticipated to be operational in 2032.

Digital Economy

The Midlands' digital economy is booming, with Birmingham now ranked among the top five UK cities for tech investment.

Food

Opheem, Adam's and Simpsons give Birmingham the fine accolade of having the most Michelin-starred restaurants outside of London. The city's street food culture is also big business and a major visitor attraction, with stalwarts including Digbeth Dining Club and Hockley Social Club.

Shopping

New Street Station is the gateway to Birmingham's shopping heartland. The city centre is home to over a thousand shops when you combine the Bullring, Grand Central, and the surrounding streets. In contrast to the array of high street megastars, there's the independent boutiques and retailers to explore within six architecturally striking shopping arcades: Great Western Arcade, Piccadilly Arcade, The Minories, Burlington Arcade, City Arcade, and The North Western Arcade.

Jewellery Quarter

Birmingham has been recognised as a World Craft City, one of just eight in Europe. The city's rich heritage is evident amongst the vibrant array of designer-makers based around the Jewellery Quarter, while the next generation of talent being honed at BCU's world famous School of Jewellery.

Nightlife

From the mainstream bustle of Broad Street to the creative and alternative venues in Digbeth, Birmingham comes alive when the working day is done.

Wolverhampton it's a Vibe

Wolverhampton was recently ranked the second-best place in the whole of the UK to raise a family by moneysupermarket.com (only being edged out of the top spot by the city of Bath).

With excellent schools, colleges, its own university; cost-effective housing and superb local, regional and national connectivity; it's earned a deserved reputation as one of the best kept secrets in the UK with regards to a high-value (yet still highly affordable) quality of life offer.

Shop 'Til You Drop

For retail therapy, there are major brands aplenty across two linked indoor shopping centres – The Mander Centre and The Wulfrun Centre. Additional high street stores and delightful independent retailers are sited around the picturesque central streets, where there's also a cosmopolitan mix of café culture, restaurants, bars and traditional pubs.

On Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, you can experience the hustle and bustle of Wolverhampton Market on Cleveland Street. Let your senses wander from the sounds of the traders, the smell of the spices, or the magnificent prices of fresh fish.

Education

Within easy reach of Canalside South, there is a choice of nurseries, infant, junior and secondary schools, together with further and higher education institutions. 92% of the city's schools are rated Outstanding or Good by Ofsted. Wolverhampton is also ranked as the 2nd cheapest place to live near an 'Outstanding' school.

WELL CONNECTED

Wolverhampton's array of city centre amenities and attractions are within a short walk of Canalside South, while trips further afield can be made by bicycle, bus, metro, train or car.

A REGION TO EXPLORE

By Road

Wolverhampton is at the heart of England's motorway network. The M6 runs through the heart of the Black Country in a roughly east-west direction, while the M5 runs roughly south-north. The nearby M54 motorway links the city with Telford.

By Rail

A key selling point for the city is its position on the main railway line between London and Birmingham, and onwards to northern cities such as Manchester.

By Tram

The Midlands Metro service from Wolverhampton to Birmingham runs every from 10-12 minutes during Monday to Saturday daytimes and every 15 minutes during the evenings and on Sundays.

By Air

Wolverhampton is conveniently accessible from a number of airports. Birmingham International Airport can be reached in 20-30 minutes by train, or approximately 45 minutes by road. Alternative nearby airports include Manchester and East Midlands (Derby/Nottingham), where journey times by road or rail networks are within one - two hours.

The vibrancy of Canalside South will disseminate from Wavensmere's restoration and re-purposing of the original railway arches spanning the site. There will be a total of 1,338sqm (14,400 sq ft) of lettable commercial space, offering a range of services and retail experiences to the local community.

THE ARCHES

Fully equipped Gym and Studio

On-site Gym

All residents will have exclusive access to Canalside South's fully-equipped private gymnasium. The convenience of having a fabulous indoor fitness facility within moments of your front door will ignite your wellness routine.

Co-working Space

A wonderfully chic co-working space will also be exclusively accessible to residents. This expansive yet quiet environment provides a range of practical and professional office furniture configurations, a hop and a skip from the cosiness of your house or apartment.

Cafe

Whether it's a macchiato, latte, or matcha frappuccino that you crave, head down to the on-site café. This casual, welcoming venue will become the go-to place to catch up with friends and family, while indulging in great coffee and delicious bakes.

HAND-CRAFTED EXCELLENCE

The process of creating a Wavensmere home is one taken with utmost care and superior attention to detail. It's why we have been crowned Residential Developer of the Year at the Insider Midlands Property Awards over consecutive years.

We've raised the bar in the homebuilding industry by using prestige suppliers, materials and fittings. Plentiful open space creates beautiful surroundings, with the peace of mind that comes with living in an energy-efficient new home.

At Canalside South, there are various house and apartment designs to choose from, benefiting from a quality specification as standard.

Wavensmere Homes' passion for authenticity and transformative regeneration developments has resulted in a glowing national reputation. We specialise in high-specification renovation projects, the sensitive conversion of historic sites, and developments where classic architecture has been brought back to its former glory.

Our rich expertise in traditional craftsmanship means we understand the importance of fine detail and quality. Our team of specialists reinvent iconic properties, preserving their history for generations to come.

With an extensive portfolio of residential and mixed-use ventures throughout the UK, our passion is turning derelict sites into living landmarks.

Wavensmere Homes is currently delivering the final phase of the £175m Nightingale Quarter, located off London Road within Derby city centre.

The £112.5m Belgrave Village development has delivered 438 energy-efficient houses and apartments in central Birmingham – on a brownfield site that was vacant for 20 years.

Located on the Shotley Peninsula, close to Ipswich, the £130m Barrelman's Point scheme is reanimating the former HMS Ganges naval base, delivering over 300 premium houses in the process.

In north Derbyshire, we are currently redeveloping Milford Mills, which overlooks the River Derwent, located between Belper and Duffield. 69 new homes are being delivered on the historic site, which is within the Derwent Valley Mills UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Elsewhere in Derby city centre, we will be delivering nearly 200 apartments on a prime Cathedral Quarter riverside site, off Full Street.

In the heart of Cheltenham's Central Conservation Area, Wavensmere is currently constructing the £50m Arkle Court scheme, featuring 75 three-bedroom townhouses and 72 one- and two-bedroom apartments.

QUALITY BUILT-IN

The Canalside South specification is a mix of contemporary styling and ergonomic design, balanced with energy efficiency. Our hand-selected fixtures and fittings have been tried and tested in our other recent developments.
