Alexanders are proud to present this rarely available and beautifully charming Victorian semi-detached residence, occupying a sought-after position within the renowned Kirby Fields area of Kirby Muxloe. Extending to approximately 4561 square feet, the property effortlessly combines elegant period character with generous and versatile accommodation, showcasing an abundance of original features alongside sympathetic improvements made for modern living.

Further enhancing its appeal is a thoughtfully converted former stable range, providing flexible ancillary accommodation, while outside the property enjoys mature private gardens, extensive driveway parking and a peaceful setting behind automated gates. Throughout, the home offers an exceptional balance of character, practicality and timeless appeal.

Kirby Muxloe is one of Leicestershire's most desirable villages, offering an excellent range of everyday amenities, well-regarded schooling, picturesque countryside walks and superb transport links to Leicester city centre, the M1, M69 and A46. The prestigious Kirby Fields area is particularly renowned for its mature surroundings, historic character and enduring popularity.

Accommodation:

The glazed entrance porch, featuring coloured stained glass, a vaulted ceiling and original Minton tiled flooring, provides a wonderful introduction and sets the tone for the character and craftsmanship found throughout the home. Beyond, the impressive reception hall is centred around a dog-leg staircase rising to the first floor, with access also provided to the fully converted cellar.

To the front elevation are two elegant reception rooms, currently arranged as a formal sitting room and dining room. The beautifully proportioned sitting room enjoys French doors opening directly onto the gardens and showcases a wealth of period features that continue throughout the property, including high ceilings, deep skirting boards, ornate cornicing and decorative plasterwork, together with original fireplaces and door furniture. The formal dining room is centred around a striking reclaimed feature fireplace, creating an exceptional space for entertaining.

The tanked cellar has been thoughtfully converted to provide a comfortable additional living area, ideal as a snug or media room, whilst also incorporating practical storage space currently serving as a wine cellar.

To the rear of the property, a cosy snug is centred around a wood-burning stove and complemented by original fitted storage cupboards, creating a warm and inviting retreat. The beautifully appointed kitchen is fitted with a range of integrated appliances, bespoke solid oak base and wall units beneath granite work surfaces, and a striking vaulted ceiling that enhances the sense of light and space.

Flowing seamlessly from the kitchen, the garden room provides an idyllic setting for both dining and relaxation, with delightful views over the gardens. The adjoining utility room, complete with a traditional Belfast sink and housing both boilers, offers excellent additional storage and practicality. Completing the ground floor accommodation is a guest cloakroom, while a rear hallway provides convenient external access.

The versatile first floor, originally three bedrooms, is currently arranged to create an impressive principal suite, comprising a generous double bedroom, an elegant dressing room with bespoke fitted cabinetry, a stunning traditional four-piece bathroom, and a beautifully appointed library/home office. This flexible layout offers the potential to be reconfigured to suit a variety of individual requirements, if desired.

The second floor provides three further double bedrooms, enjoying stunning far-reaching views, all served by a well-appointed shower room.

Gardens and land:

The property is approached via automated iron gates opening onto a sweeping driveway, which splits into two forks to provide ample parking to both the front and rear of the residence. The plot enjoys a high degree of privacy, bordered by established trees and mature shrubs along the western boundary and set well back from the road.

A substantial lawned area, historically believed to have been a tennis court, is framed by well-stocked herbaceous borders, creating an attractive and secluded garden setting. A raised patio, accessed directly from the garden room, offers an ideal space for outdoor entertaining and al fresco dining, while a vast block-paved area provides additional parking in front of the converted outbuildings.

Outbuildings

The former stables have been thoughtfully converted to provide versatile accommodation, currently arranged as two separate offices and a gym, together with additional storage space and a shower room. This highly flexible area offers excellent potential for ancillary accommodation to the main house, subject to the necessary consents.

Location:

Occupying an enviable position within the prestigious and historic Kirby Fields area of Kirby Muxloe, this exceptional home enjoys a peaceful setting while remaining within easy reach of an excellent range of local amenities. The sought-after village offers a variety of independent shops, cafés, public houses, restaurants and everyday conveniences, together with the historic Kirby Muxloe Castle and a wealth of surrounding countryside and walking routes.

The property is ideally placed for families, with highly regarded primary and secondary schools nearby, including Kirby Muxloe Primary School and Brookvale Groby Learning Campus. Excellent transport links provide easy access to Leicester city centre, the M1, M69 and A46, making the location ideal for commuters, while regular rail services from nearby Leicester offer direct connections to London and other major cities.

Kirby Fields is widely regarded as one of the village's most desirable addresses, combining period charm, mature surroundings and outstanding convenience in one of Leicestershire's most sought-after residential settings.
