"We loved starting and growing our family in this house. Not only because of the wonderful sense of community we have in the neighbourhood, but mainly because this house dances with the seasons very well, making the most of every single one of them... From sipping coffee in winter mornings, whilst the sun shines through the living room windows; to celebrating summer days in our sun-trap of a garden, hosting family and friends and barbecuing until the last ray of sunshine... A great sanctuary to us that has also been our friend's hub for group gatherings. This house has truly been our beloved home and holds such beautiful memories. We will always pass by it on the street and remember the great times we had here."
