THE PROPERTY

Rodcombe is a handsome Grade II Listed detached Cotswold farmhouse dating back to the late 17th century, occupying an enviable position towards the end of a peaceful no-through lane in Aston Sub Edge with far-reaching countryside views. Constructed of mellow Cotswold stone beneath a traditional stone tiled roof, the property retains a wealth of original character features including exposed beams, flagstone flooring, window seats and an impressive inglenook fireplace. The earliest known inscription within the property, "E.B. 1689", can be found carved into a beam above the staircase, reflecting the home's rich heritage and history. The accommodation is arranged over three floors and offers well-proportioned and versatile living space throughout. A spacious reception room forms the heart of the house with wide oak floorboards, exposed structural timbers and the substantial inglenook fireplace creating a wonderful focal point. The kitchen/breakfast room is fitted with an attractive range of shaker style cabinetry, flagstone floors and enjoys lovely views over the surrounding gardens and countryside. Adjacent is a particularly useful utility/boot room with external access. On the first floor are two generous double bedrooms, one benefitting from an ensuite shower room, together with a separate family bathroom. Two further characterful rooms are positioned within the upper floors and provide excellent additional bedrooms, home offices or hobby rooms. Rodcombe now offers an excellent opportunity for a purchaser to enjoy a quintessential period Cotswold home in one of the area's most sought-after villages.
