Summary

BESPOKE HEXAGONAL ARCHITECTURAL DESIGNFOUR BEDROOMSFOUR BATHROOMS

Tucked away discreetly and set behind private gates, this extraordinary detached bungalow is one of those rare homes that genuinely feels like a discovery rather than just a property. From the outside it intrigues, but the moment you step through the door it becomes clear this is something completely bespoke, a one off architectural design with an almost sculpted hexagonal form that has been thoughtfully created to maximise light, space and flow throughout.

The entrance sets the tone immediately, with a breath taking hallway defined by a vaulted ceiling and skylight above, allowing natural light to pour in and gently guide you into the heart of the home. There is an immediate sense of calm, space and individuality that you simply do not find in conventional builds.

At the centre of the property sits a beautifully crafted dining kitchen, designed as a true social hub. The central island anchors the room perfectly, making it ideal for casual dining, conversation and entertaining, while double doors seamlessly connect the space through to a sitting area beyond and sun room.

The main living room is equally impressive, rich in character and warmth, with a stunning inglenook style fireplace that creates a natural focal point and brings a real sense of comfort and charm to the space. It is the kind of room that instantly feels special, whether it is a quiet evening in or a gathering with family and friends.
