Out and about...

Eccleston is set beside the River Yarrow and was formerly an agricultural and willow weaving settlement but now is very much a dynamic village in the Borough of Chorley with easy access to motorway commuter routes. The village is always popular with young families and benefits from two village schools, Eccleston St. Mary's Church of England Primary School and Eccleston Primary and sits within the catchment for the renowned onward secondary school, The Bishop Rawstorne, in Croston.

Just about everything you need can be found within the village shops which include a Sainsburys supermarket, a pharmacy, two great bakeries, two lovely floral design shops, two Manna Coffee Shops, a library, a Post Office and gift shop, opticians, beauticians and boutiques. There are also several local pubs, restaurants and take-aways to explore and the town is served by an hourly bus service to Wigan, Preston and Chorley.
