The Location

The tranquil village of Bourne End sits peacefully alongside the Grand Union Canal with a choice of local pubs that provide everything from traditional ales and home-cooked food around a cosy open fire, to a refreshing summer drink and light lunch watching wildlife and narrowboats drift by. The local village hall plays host to a variety of different activities and there's always a reason to get outside in the fresh air. Located on the edge of the spectacular Chiltern Hills, countless footpaths crisscross the beautiful Hertfordshire countryside, while the canal makes the perfect place for boating, fishing, strolling or cycling along the towpath.

Despite such a quiet location, you don't have to travel far from this rural idyll to enjoy the hustle and bustle of the town. Berkhamsted's historic streets, lined with independent shops, cafés and restaurants are less than six minutes away by road and offer an irresistible charm. The High Street is regularly taken over by the local market, where you'll find a multitude of treasures, including the freshest local produce.
