LOCATION

Maplebeck is a small village located in the district of Newark and Sherwood, Nottinghamshire. The village is situated on the edge of Sherwood Forest and is surrounded by beautiful countryside. The village has a population of around 200 people and is known for its peaceful and tranquil atmosphere. Maplebeck is a popular destination for tourists who are looking for a quiet and relaxing getaway. The village of Maplebeck has a rich history that dates back to the 11th century.

The village was mentioned in the Domesday Book of 1086 and was known as "Mapelbec". The village was originally owned by the Bishop of Lincoln and was later passed on to the Earls of Chester. The village has a number of historic buildings, including St. Radegund's Church, which dates back to the 12th century. The church is a Grade II listed building and is known for its beautiful stained glass windows. The Beehive Inn is also located in the village, the smallest pub in Nottinghamshire
