Description

Coming through the front door with its glazed transom window, the Harlequin tiled entrance hallway is well lit and immediately on your right is the kitchen. Fitted with a selection of painted base units and a solid wooden counter top housing an inset Belfast sink and an induction hob above a conventional single oven. There is a tiled splashback above the counter tops and this frames the sash window between the wall dresser, plate rack units and stainless steel extractor hood. The kitchen has ample space for a table and chairs as well as a freestanding fridge. The lovely and very well proportioned living room has a chimney breast with a feature fireplace housing a gas flame effect fire and fitted shelving storage to one side. It is tastefully decorated with stripped wooden floorboards. Off the hallway there is a small cloakroom which provides access (through a part glazed single door) to the rear enclosed courtyard, which is perfect for enjoying a morning coffee.

Upstairs to the first floor there is a spacious landing with a wall hung central heating boiler, off which are all of the rooms. There are two good sized double bedrooms, both with decorative cast iron fireplace surrounds and sash windows giving even more stunning views over the rooftops to the countryside beyond the town. The main bathroom has a sash window overlooking the courtyard and is fitted with a walk in double shower cubicle as well as a lovely slipper bath. A drop down loft ladder (from the landing) provides access up into the attic space, which is partially separated by the chimney breast into two areas. There is a limit to head height, but the attic is boarded and carpeted with a Velux window to each space and there is a wealth of exposed brick work and the timber frame supporting the original roof structure.

Outside Space

There is a very compact enclosed courtyard, which could accommodate a small cafe style patio set. Although there are areas of public recreational space very near by.
