The Property

Entry is into a bright and open sitting room that runs the full depth of the house. Herringbone flooring brings warmth and texture, complemented by soft, neutral tones and a simple palette. The space is arranged to allow for both seating and reading areas, with the staircase set neatly to one side.

To the rear, the kitchen has been modernised with clean-lined cabinetry and integrated appliances, arranged in an L-shape to maximise workspace. Pendant lighting and timber-edged worktops introduce a softer, more domestic feel, while large windows draw in good natural light. A small dining area sits comfortably within this space.

Beyond the kitchen is a utility room and a spacious ground-floor bathroom. The bathroom has been finished with large-format tiles and includes a freestanding bath, walk-in shower and matte black fittings, giving it a contemporary feel.

Upstairs, the first floor is arranged around a central landing. There are three bedrooms, each simply finished with light walls and good natural light. The principal bedroom spans the width of the house, while the remaining rooms offer flexibility for guest accommodation, children's rooms or a study.

The Outside

The rear garden is a particular strength, extending to a notable depth and arranged in distinct sections. Immediately outside the house is a paved terrace, leading to a central lawn bordered by gravelled areas and planting.

Mature trees provide shade and structure, while a garden studio sits at the far end, offering potential as a workspace, hobby room or additional storage. A secondary shed provides further practical storage.

To the front, the house is set behind a small gravelled garden with a low boundary fence, giving a simple and low-maintenance approach.
