IF YOU LIVED HERE...

This is a home brimming with individuality, every room considered yet full of character. Hallway sets the scene with patterned tiling, painted balustrades and glimpses of greenery to the rear, its generous proportions lending a graceful sense of arrival.

At the front, the reception and kitchen form a beautifully alluring heart to the house. A bay window and hearth create a refined sitting area that flows into a kitchen of terrazzo-style surfaces, natural wood cabinetry and open shelving. An exposed brick feature adds texture, while a single glazed door opens to the outside for effortless everyday living.

To the rear, a second reception feels calm and inviting, with wide oak boards underfoot and double doors that open directly to the landscaped garden. This south-west facing outdoor space is a leafy sanctuary with layered planting, established trees and two terraces for dining or simply basking in the sun.

Upstairs, the rooms each bring their own personality. The bay-fronted principal bedroom enjoys twin wardrobes, a hearth and a private en suite with separate bath and shower, finished in patterned tiling for a quietly luxurious feel. The middle room pairs stripped boards with a lofty ceiling and leafy outlook, while the rear is painted in cheerful sky tones and feels soothing throughout the day. Main bathroom is a centrepiece, where a sculptural freestanding tub and steel-framed shower sit against softly polished walls, brass accents and pastel geometric flooring, complete with thoughtful niches for elegant storage.

The loft echoes the home's creativity, with cork flooring, skylights and bespoke cabinetry shaping a spacious front bedroom with adjoining dressing area. To the rear, a smaller room with picture window and fitted desk makes an inspiring study or restful retreat. Bathroom here is animated by bold checkerboard tiling, warmed by wood cabinetry and brightened by a skylight above.

Francis Road is one of those special streets that feels like a village within the city, its partly pedestrianised stretch lined with independent shops, cafés and much-loved eateries. Even a gentle stroll here brings a sense of connection, whether you're pausing for seasonal plates at Marmelo Kitchen, browsing wines at Yardarm or settling into the welcoming glow of the Northcote Arms. When you want green space, the vast Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park offers waterways, trails and world-class sporting facilities, while Wanstead Flats provides wide open grassland, woodland edges and an ever-changing backdrop through the seasons. Families will appreciate excellent local schools, including the outstanding Newport Primary, just around five minutes away.

WHAT ELSE?

Leyton Station is just nine minutes away, placing the Central Line within easy reach and opening up swift connections across the capital. From here, the City, West End and beyond are all directly accessible, making daily travel or weekend exploring wonderfully straightforward.

A WORD FROM THE OWNERS...

"We love that we placed the living at the rear of the house, facing directly to the garden, it makes it feel bright and extends the living space. The kitchen and dining room being combined in the more formal original rooms of the house was purposeful, we love entertaining, and we wanted to make best use of the bay window, where we built in the window seat, and to see the lively original corning. We have built in clever storage throughout, always useful with a family - including the laundry space in the spare (1st floor front) bedroom and deep cupboards in the living room.

The views across to the city from the loft study are wonderful, it's a really inspiring room to work from and provides a great viewpoint for the city's firework displays in Nov and Dec.

The garden has been a labour of love, and we benefit from a beautiful Silver Birch Tree and other established shrubs."
