A well-proportioned detached bungalow on a generous, south-facing plot, tucked away in a discreet cul-de-sac just off Park Lane.

Garich is a particularly well-maintained and thoughtfully improved detached bungalow, originally constructed in the 1970s, standing within a large and established plot in a discreet cul-de-sac setting just off the sought-after Park Lane locality.

The property is set back from the road behind a mature hedge, with a tarmac driveway sweeping around a central island flower bed to provide ample off-road parking.

To the rear, the garden enjoys a sunny south-facing aspect, with a paved patio leading onto a lawned garden. A large single garage and additional hardstanding are positioned at the top of the plot, accessed via Highcroft Avenue.

Internally, the accommodation is both spacious and adaptable, benefitting from PVCu double glazing and gas-fired central heating via a Worcester boiler. The layout comprises an internal porch leading into a generous lounge with patio doors opening onto the garden. An inner hallway gives access to a large dining kitchen with seating area, a separate utility room, WC, three well-proportioned bedrooms, and a modern shower room.

Windsor Place is ideally positioned for convenient access to Congleton town centre, High Town and Congleton railway station, all within comfortable walking distance. High Town offers a range of shops, public houses and everyday amenities, while Congleton itself provides an excellent blend of independent and high-street retailers, well-regarded schooling, and a strong community atmosphere. The town benefits from a vibrant cultural and leisure scene including the Daneside Theatre, regular markets and craft fairs, the popular Jazz & Blue Festival, and attractive open spaces such as Astbury Mere Country Park. A broad selection of restaurants, cafés and bars ensures the town caters well to modern family life, alongside essential services including medical facilities and a local hospital.
