SITUATION

The property occupies a peaceful and tucked-away position on the fringes of Thorne Moor, close to the Devon/Cornwall border. Despite its rural setting, it remains highly accessible, being within easy reach of Launceston, approximately 12 minutes distant, offering a comprehensive range of amenities including supermarkets, schooling, retail parks and a thriving town centre. The nearby village of Lifton, just over 3 miles away, provides day-to-day facilities including a shop/Post Office and primary school. The A30 trunk road is readily accessible, providing excellent links westward towards Truro and eastward to Exeter, with its international airport, mainline railway station and connection to the M5 motorway network.

DESCRIPTION

This quintessential Grade II listed detached thatched cottage is a fine example of a traditional West Country home, with origins believed to be largely of cob and stone construction. The owners bought the property in the early 1970's and lovingly restored it using photos of the time. The property is rich in character and charm, featuring timber single-glazed windows and a thatched roof, which was renewed approximately four years ago. Internally, a wealth of period features remain, including exposed beams and timbers, slate flagstone flooring, characterful doorways and exposed floorboards to the first floor. A particularly attractive focal point is the impressive stone fireplace housing an open fire, complemented by a clove oven and the original bread oven set to the side - creating a rare and appealing historic feature. The kitchen is centred around a solid fuel Rayburn. A notable feature is the large cast iron bath, adding to the cottage's charm and individuality.

ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation is arranged over two floors and offers characterful space throughout. The front porch, which features a hand painted front door, opens into the welcoming living/dining room centred around the staircase. The main focal point is the impressive fireplace and bread oven. There is a traditional cottage style kitchen fitted with a Rayburn. Hugely atmospheric, the cottage also has a ground floor bathroom with a distinctive cast iron bath, a rear utility/larder and study. To the first floor, the 2 bedrooms enjoy a delightful outlook over the surrounding gardens with exposed floorboards and character features.

OUTSIDE

The property is set well back from a quiet country lane and stands within mature gardens approaching 0.4 of an acre, offering a wonderful sense of seclusion. The gardens are a particular feature of the property, being thoughtfully arranged to include areas of lawn, an abundance of established trees, and a rich variety of planting including spring bulbs, perennials, roses and Gunnera. For those seeking a more self-sufficient lifestyle, there is a kitchen garden, polytunnel and chicken run. A charming summerhouse provides an ideal space for use as an art or pottery studio, whilst a generous garage/workshop, with power and light, offers excellent storage or hobby space. There is ample driveway parking. From the gardens, there are attractive westerly views, particularly enjoyed as one moves down through the grounds towards the entrance gates.
