Location

Stoneyetts Village offers a real sense of community with the countryside close at hand and plenty of green open spaces ideal for dog walking, running and cycling. Benefitting from exceptional connectivity with four major motorways close by, it is an outstanding location for fast road access to Glasgow city centre, Lanarkshire, Edinburgh and Stirling. Local buses provide frequent services to Falkirk or Glasgow, and trains between Edinburgh and Glasgow Queen Street stop at Gartcosh, three miles south of the development.

Stoneyetts Village is close to local shops, including a Co-op supermarket, a convenience store, a pharmacy, a dental surgery, a pub and hot food takeaways. Half a mile away is a further selection of shops with convenience stores and a post office, alongside a medical centre, open on weekday mornings, that is part of the Glenboig Practice, based two and a half miles away. Larger retail offerings, such as The Glasgow Fort Shopping Centre, is only a 15-minute car journey.

There are a number of highly rated primary and secondary schools in Moodiesburn and the neighbouring suburbs of Kirkintilloch and Lenzie. These, as well as the family-friendly local community, make it an ideal place to settle down for those with children.

Commuting to Glasgow for work is easy via car or public transport. Outside of work and school, there are plenty of green spaces and leisure activities for you to enjoy, ranging from woodland walks along the Bothlin Burn to the expanse of nearby Drumpellier Country Park. There is a choice of golf courses in easy reach, and other leisure amenities in easy reach include the Vue cinema at Glasgow Fort, and Cumbernauld Theatre, complementing the world-class cultural attractions and live music venues of Glasgow.
