Just two house styles designed to reflect the areas attractive architecture with carefully planned accommodation designed to achieve new levels of home comfort.

A refined daily rhythm.

Hamilton Close is positioned within Kenwyn, one of Truro's most desirable residential settings. Close enough to enjoy the life and convenience of Cornwall's capital, yet set within a calmer, greener edge of the city, it offers a rare balance of connection and retreat.

From the development, residents can walk towards Truro city centre, the train station and Victoria Gardens, or follow public footpaths along the River Kenwyn and River

Allen towards Idless Woods. Established streets, mature trees and the presence of Kenwyn Parish Church give the area a settled, distinctive character.

WHERE THE CITY SOFTENS INTO THE TREELINE

A CONSIDERED LAYOUT

Nine homes, two house styles, carefully positioned within the setting.

Hamilton Close comprises just nine detached four-bedroom homes, arranged in two distinct house styles. Each home has been planned to make the most of the site's setting, with generous gardens, driveway parking and sitting-out terraces supporting a private, family-focused way of living.

The layout should communicate a sense of calm, space and intention: a small collection of homes rather than a large-volume development. Mature boundaries, landscaping and the relationship between each plot will be key to showing the development's privacy and quality.

INTRODUCING KINGSLEY SIGNATURE

A Signature Homes development designed around modern family life.

Signature is Kingsley's collection of exclusive, one-off homes, crafted to an exceptional standard. It is the fullest expression of what Kingsley does: considered architecture, carefully chosen materials and a more personal way to buy a new home.

Each Signature development is designed for its site rather than repeated from a standard model. At Hamilton Close, the concept is The Modern Townhouse: contemporary family homes shaped around their Kenwyn setting, with generous gardens, refined proportions, considered fenestration and a strong relationship between inside and out.

Quality is carried through every detail, from architectural form and material choices to branded products, finishes and practical everyday features. With in-house design expertise by Chartered Architects, direct build management and trusted long-standing contractors, Kingsley keeps close control from first concept to final handover.

Buyers also benefit from a more personal experience, with direct contact, progress updates and opportunities to make selected choices where the build programme allows. The result is a home that feels distinctive, carefully made and quietly confident from day one.

Light-filled family spaces that open naturally to the garden.

At Hamilton Close, the home is designed to open naturally to the garden, creating an easy connection between everyday family life, entertaining and time outside. Generous glazing, considered layouts and west-facing gardens help bring light deeper into the home, while terraces create space to gather, unwind and enjoy the setting.

The Modern Townhouse concept is about more than appearance. It is a way of living that brings together contemporary architecture, practical family spaces and a calmer relationship with the outdoors. Each home has been planned to feel open, usable and refined, with room for busy mornings, relaxed evenings and everything in between.

From kitchen and dining spaces that become the heart of the home to gardens that offer privacy and breathing space, Hamilton Close gives modern family life a more considered rhythm.
