Tucked away just moments from Padstow's vibrant harbour and atmospheric streets, Grove House is an exquisite period property of rare originality and charm. Double fronted and immediately striking, this elegant four-bedroom home showcases a wealth of character features from graceful sash windows and exposed original floorboards to the welcoming glow of a wood-burning stove.

With front and rear outside space, two bathrooms and generous living spaces, Grove House offers an enviable lifestyle in one of Cornwall's most desirable locations.

The beautifully presented galley kitchen is thoughtfully designed with integrated appliances, leading to a light-filled dining room where French doors open to the rear garden. Two elegant reception rooms provide versatility: one centred around a wood-burning stove for cosy evenings, the other perfectly placed for entertaining.

Every room radiates individuality and authenticity, with period detailing and original features preserved throughout. The ground floor also offers a large double bedroom and a stylish family shower room, providing flexibility for guests.

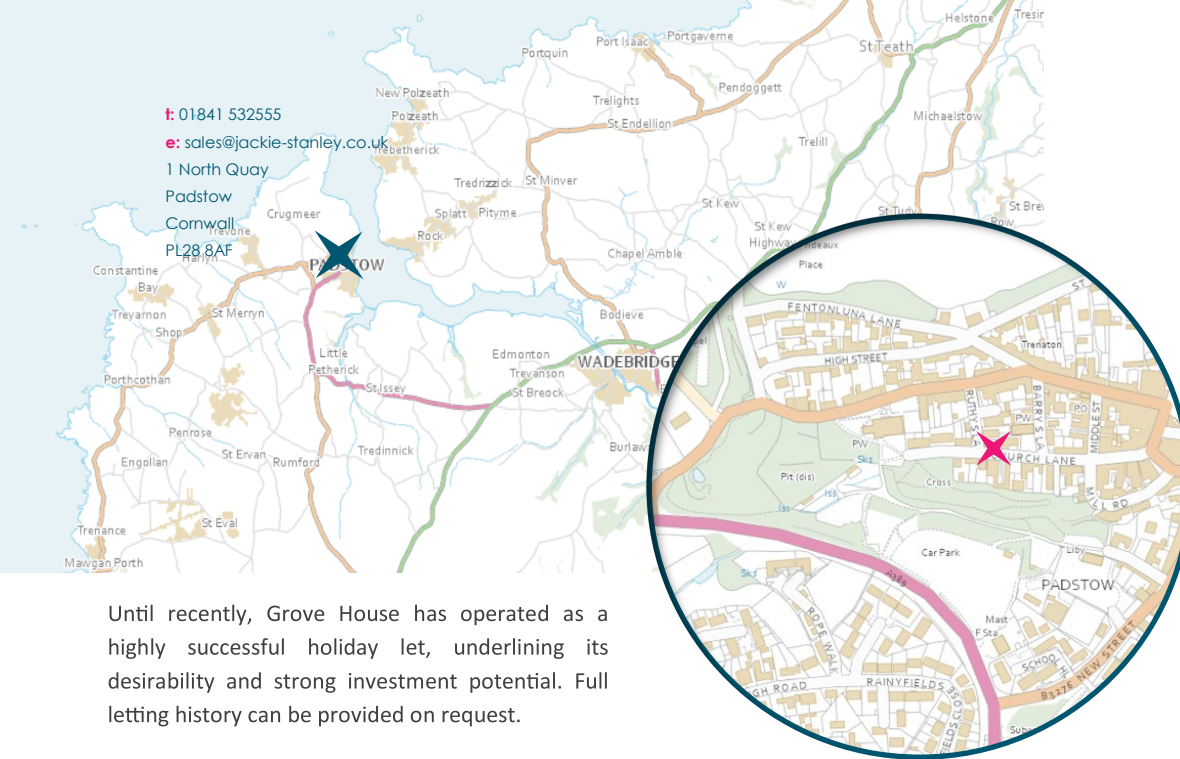

Upstairs, the charm continues with three further bedrooms, each bathed in light from the sash windows and enriched by the patina of the original floorboards. An elegant family bathroom completes this floor, blending comfort with character.

At the rear, an unexpectedly spacious enclosed garden offers privacy and sunshine in equal measure – an idyllic spot for al fresco dining, barbecues or quiet relaxation. The front of the property enjoys a small courtyard-style garden, enclosed and gated with direct access onto Church Street, enhancing both convenience and kerb appeal.

With its sash windows, original floorboards, wood-burning stove and timeless character, Grove House is a truly individual home – as suited to elegant permanent living as it is to being a premier Cornish holiday retreat.
