DESCRIPTION

Pitt House is a charming Grade II Listed Devon Long House believed to date from the 16th Century. Offering a tasteful balance of period charm and modern comfort, the property retains a wealth of original features whilst benefitting from sympathetic improvements throughout.

The accommodation extends across two storeys and provides excellent flexibility, including a ground floor bedroom suite suitable for multi-generational living or annex potential. The beautifully landscaped gardens are a particular feature, extending to approximately 0.75 acres and creating a private and tranquil setting within the heart of the village.

ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation is arranged over two storeys and immediately showcases the property's rich history and period character. Original plank and muntin screens, exposed beams and impressive inglenook fireplaces are evident throughout the principal rooms.

The entrance hall provides access to the two principal reception rooms. The sitting room enjoys an attractive inglenook fireplace incorporating a bread oven and wood-burning stove, creating a welcoming focal point. A second reception room offers further flexibility and provides an ideal space for formal entertaining, a family room or snug.

The kitchen and dining room act as the social hub of the home. Filled with natural light, this impressive space features a range of cream Shaker-style units complemented by granite worktops and integrated appliances, alongside an electric Aga cooker. French doors provide direct access to the garden and terrace beyond, creating an excellent environment for both family life and entertaining.

Further ground floor accommodation includes a utility room, cloakroom and a substantial bedroom suite benefitting from its own external access and en suite facilities. Given its position within the house, this space offers excellent flexibility for dependent relatives, guests or potential income generation, subject to the necessary consents.

On the first floor are four further bedrooms. The principal suite enjoys a dressing area and en suite bathroom, while the remaining bedrooms are serviced by a family bathroom featuring underfloor heating. A spacious landing provides additional flexibility and could accommodate a reading area or study space if required.

OUTSIDE

The property is approached via a sweeping private driveway leading to extensive parking and a recently renovated double garage equipped with power, lighting and useful storage.

The gardens are a particular feature of Pitt House and have been thoughtfully landscaped to create a variety of attractive outdoor spaces. Areas of manicured lawn are interspersed with mature trees, established planting and wildflower areas, providing colour and interest throughout the seasons.

A sun terrace adjoining the house offers an ideal space for outdoor seating and dining, while further seating areas have been carefully positioned throughout the grounds to make the most of the peaceful surroundings. A raised deck provides additional entertaining space and enjoys an attractive outlook across the gardens.

A charming brook meanders through the grounds, enhancing the sense of tranquillity and contributing to the property's unique setting. In total, the grounds extend to approximately 0.75 acres.
