INSIDE

The interiors have been thoughtfully designed to celebrate the property's original architecture while introducing a sophisticated contemporary aesthetic throughout. Elegant reception rooms are filled with natural light from tall sash windows, with high ceilings, period detailing and herringbone parquet flooring creating a sense of understated grandeur.

The principal sitting room offers a calm yet sophisticated setting for both relaxing and entertaining, while the formal dining room flows into a bespoke shaker-style kitchen with granite worktops, a central breakfast bar, and a separate utility, pantry and cloakroom.

The primary bedroom suite is especially impressive, offering a dressing area and a spa-style en-suite with a freestanding bath, walk-in rainfall shower, and refined stone finishes. The first floor is completed by two further bedrooms and a contemporary family bathroom.

The second floor provides excellent versatility, with a vaulted, timber-beamed space and skylights currently used as a studio and additional living area, with potential as a fourth bedroom suite or guest accommodation, complete with kitchenette and shower room.
