Agents Notes

The property is equipped with multiple environmentally beneficial systems. A rainwater harvester is used to provide water for the WC's and washing machine. The solar panels use energy from the sun to provide hot water to the property. And the air bubbler in the septic system is an air pump (or aerator) that supplies oxygen to the septic tank to promote the growth of aerobic bacteria. This allows for a more efficient digestion of waste, reducing sludge build-up and improving effluent quality.
