

South Riggs is a charming and immaculately presented three-bedroom detached house situated in the much sought-after conservation village of Bowden. Only a short drive from the Borders Town of Melrose, or the village of St. Boswells, the property is around five and a half miles from the Borders Railway, which runs from Tweedbank to Edinburgh.

Offering excellent potential to extend, the property occupies a large plot with wrap around garden ground with plentiful private parking to the front.

Internally, the deceptively spacious accommodation lies predominantly across one level, with a couple of internal steps, and comprises three bedrooms, a bathroom, a sitting room, and an open-plan dining kitchen. With excellent storage throughout, including the attic space offering conversion opportunities, this bright and well-laid out home also benefits from oil fired central heating and double glazing.

Externally, there is a large tarmac driveway offering parking for a number of cars to the front of the large garage. The garden to the front has a generous lawn, borders and a selection of mature shrubs and small trees, with an area to sit out. Access down both sides of the property lead to a spacious rear garden which has a paved and gravelled area providing space for more informal entertaining.

With raised beds and vegetable patch there is also a greenhouse and garden shed providing additional external storage.

Edinburgh is easily accessible via the A68, with most Border towns readily available from this central location, along with the aforementioned Borders Railway.
