Tanglewood Bungalow, Thixendale, YO17 9TG

A VERY RARE OPPORTUNITY to acquire a property in what is a highly desirable 'true' village setting surrounded by rolling countryside and offering huge scope for development, if required.

Having been in the same ownership for many decades, the sale of this property provides the new owners with an opportunity of a totally new way of life. The bungalow itself is, in its current form, modest however, offers huge scope to either extend outwards or upwards, as required, subject to appropriate planning consents. In addition to this, the substantial plot offers the potential for future development and has previously benefitted from outline planning consent for a single dwelling which has subsequently lapsed.

The property also includes a characterful detached outbuilding, formerly The Old Joiners Shop, that offers the potential to create a useful workshop or even develop or re-develop into a residential dwelling, if required.

In short, this is a perfect opportunity to purchase a property in a location which is seldom available and, given the development potential, develop this to your own requirements, or enjoy the existing bungalow which has been the case for the current owner for many years.
