A fascinating and historic Grade II Listed period home that hides deceptively extensive accommodation, which requires general repair and refurbishment to bring it back to its former glory.

- Grade II Listed Period House
- Spacious 2 Reception, 4 Bedroom, 2 Bathroom Accommodation
- Enclosed & Sheltered Cobbled Courtyard
- Attached Workshop with Slate Flagstone Floor
- Elevated South-Faci/ng Garden

The Property

A hugely interesting period home forming part of a terrace, thought by the current owner to have originally been built as one house, but over the decades has been as offices and a telephone exchange, before being divided into three individual homes, this being the largest.

So many original features remain, ranging from the part slate hung frontage and the heavy, pedimented entrance door, through to the ceiling covings, impressive fireplaces, and original doors and architraves. There are two staircases to the first floor, with a further staircase rising to the 38ft long fourth bedroom in the attic.

Fronting directly onto the footpath in a southerly direction, the house looks towards the attractive homes of the former foundry, whilst to the immediate rear is an enclosed cobbled courtyard, off which is an intriguing old workshop, perhaps with potential as a future, subject to relevant planning approval. Situated above the courtyard is a terraced lawn garden.

Location

Perranarworthal is a highly regarded location straddling the A39 Truro to Falmouth Road at the head of the tidal Restronguet Creek. It is an excellent location for quick and easy access to the shopping, schooling, health and leisure amenities of both Truro and Falmouth, each of which is just over 5 miles distant. Closer to hand is the University of Exeter, Penryn Campus and just across the road from the house is a bus stop for the regular service that runs between the two towns.
