The Main Text

A well-presented three-bedroom terraced home on Gray Street, Abertillery, offering bright accommodation, a modern fitted kitchen and neutral interiors. Offered for sale, this attractive stone-fronted property provides a welcoming home with space for everyday living.

The living accommodation offers room for comfortable seating and dining furniture, with white walls and grey carpeting creating a versatile backdrop for your own furnishings.

The modern kitchen features grey cabinets, contrasting work surfaces, and white tiled splashbacks, along with a built-in oven, hob, and stainless-steel extractor hood. A window above the sink brings natural light into the room.

Three bedrooms provide flexibility for family life, guests or working from home. The bathroom includes a white suite comprising a bath with shower attachment, wash-hand basin and WC, complemented by tiled areas and wood-effect flooring.

Outside, the traditional stone frontage, contrasting window frames and enclosed front forecourt give the property an appealing appearance.

An appealing opportunity for first-time buyers, those seeking their next home or investors considering a rental property.

Local Area

Abertillery is an established town in Blaenau Gwent, set within the South Wales Valleys. The town offers shops and everyday amenities, while the surrounding hills offer opportunities for walking and outdoor activities. Its combination of town facilities and valley scenery makes it an appealing location for a range of households.

Transport Links

The A467 provides road connections towards the wider South Wales network and the M4. Llanhilleth railway station provides access to the Ebbw Valley line, including services to Cardiff Central, offering an option for commuting and leisure travel.

Schools

Local education provision includes Abertillery Learning Community, which caters for children aged 3–16 across primary and secondary education. Its campuses include Tillery Street and Six Bells primary sites and the secondary campus on Alma Street. Parents should confirm current admissions arrangements, catchment eligibility and availability directly with the school or Blaenau Gwent Council.
