Property Description

6 Avenue Road represents a fine example of a Victorian house built of Malvern Stone under a pitched tiled roof with wonderful ornate polygonal shafts chimneys. The property is positioned in a highly regarded road in Great Malvern and is approached through Malvern Stone, brick and capped pillars with fence and Malvern Stone wall and gives access to a gravel driveway that continues to the front of the building and to the side offering ample off road parking. Wooded doors give access to a brick structure which, with the relevant permissions being sought, a roof could be added to create a lovely garage.

A central well is a feature at the front of the property along with raised beds. The formal Gothic style archway with ornate, cathedral style corncicing and a mosaic tiled floor is the main entrance positioned to the side of the house where a wooden front door with glazed insets and a brass door knocker opens to the deceptively spacious accommodation which is set over three floors and is in excess of 4,400 sq.ft.

Throughout the property there is a wealth of character and charm. Upon entering the house it is apparent that it is a light and airy home that offers versatility of use.

The welcoming T shaped reception hall has a Minton tiled floor flowing throughout and hints at the character available throughout this spacious property. A beautiful open wooden balustraded and spindled staircase rises up to the first floor and all principal reception rooms can be accessed from this area.

The drawing room is positioned to the side of the property and is a wonderful space for entertaining. There are dual aspect windows including a large bay overlooking the rear garden and having the original shutters. The focal point of this room is the fabulous fireplace, the high ceilings and cornicing. An interconnecting door opens to the breakfast room (described later).

The sitting room is cosy space with wide bay window with original shutters and another fabulous fireplace with tiled hearth and cast iron grate.

The fabulous office/snug sits to the westerly side of the house and close to a door leading to the inner hall accessing the office/larder and the main dining room, again with a wonderful fireplace and triple aspect stone mullioned windows, with shutters, conveniently situated adjacent to the kitchen that is accessed via an arched wooden door.

The breakfast room is also located next to kitchen and has Victorian style, floor to ceiling cupboards with two glazed windows either side, with shutters, of the cast iron fireplace with fine surround. An archway leads through to the kitchen which, subject to the relevant permissions being sought, would open through to the breakfast room. Currently fitted with drawer and cupboard base units and Belfast style sink with wooden worktop. A door opens from here into a Store with doorways to front and rear and opening to the utility area with cloakroom.

To the southerly aspect of the house and accessed from the reception hall is a rear porch with cloakroom.

On the upper level are wonderfully proportioned bedrooms and from the main landing double doors open to a southerly balcony with wooden railings and affording fine views to the Worcestershire Beacon and along the southerly range of the Malvern Hills.

The master bedroom is dual aspect with moulded sandstone fireplace with cast iron grate and a wonderful south facing bay window looking up to the hills. Complementing this bedroom are a further six well proportioned bedrooms two of which are interconnecting and could be opened to the master bedroom being on the left of the house to create a large master suite with dressing area and en-suite.

Servicing and complementing the bedrooms on this floor is a Jack & Jill style en-suite, a further family bathroom and a shower room.

On the second floor there is a further large landing area and a good size double bedroom.

The accommodation all benefits from gas central heating and wherever you look the period characteristics and charm of this wonderful property are on offer.

Leading off the reception hall stairs descend to cellarage that consists of two rooms (one of which houses the hot water cylinder and boiler), a storeroom and the main entrance area.

Outside the rear garden extends to the southerly aspect and has a paved patio area with steps down to the main lawn. Further steps lead down to the bottom tier with paved path and gravel paths meander through formal beds. This is a particularly sunny and private area enclosed by a walled, fenced and hedged perimeter.

To the side of the house there is a further seating area accessed via a gravel path with planted bed to side and a gate into a further paved seating area directly outside the utility room. Outside tap and attached brick built store.

From all aspects of the garden there are wonderful views to the Worcestershire Beacon and the Malvern Hills.
