Overview

Kipling Terrace and Court was originally constructed circa 1865 as the United Services College, where Rudyard Kipling was schooled, and latterly was converted into separate houses split into individual apartments. The Grade II Listed terrace, being of architectural and historical importance, sits in a prominent and elevated position, within easy reach of the village amenities, and affords spectacular coastal views. Located on the upper floor of the building, the apartment boasts gas fired radiator central heating, but is in need of improvement as an internal inspection will reveal.

Briefly the accommodation provides a communal entrance leading up to the upper floor accommodation comprising of an entrance hall, off of which is a generous sized living room, which boasts spectacular views over Westward Ho! and out to sea. Additionally there is a kitchen with fitted units, a bathroom and 2 bedrooms - the largest bedroom having similar views to the living room.

Westward Ho! is a very popular North Devon coastal village, with a good selection of local amenities, along with its long golden sandy Blue Flag beach, adjoining the pebble ridge, and the Royal North Devon Golf Club. Just a short drive away is the working port and market town of Bideford, located on the banks of the River Torridge, with an excellent range of facilities including schooling for all ages, a range of shops, and a selection of leisure amenities. Appledore, a former fishing village with its quaint narrow streets and quay is just a few minutes away by car. Accessible via the A39/North Devon Link Road is Barnstaple, North Devon's Regional Centre, which houses the areas main shopping business and commercial venues, where fast access is available via the A361 to Junction 27 of the M5, part of the National Motorway Network.
