Description

Situated in the most central of positions, these impressive and prominent pair of semi detached houses were built at the turn of the twentieth century and retain a host of original features from the period including 'Minton' tiled flooring to the hallway, deep moulded coved cornicing, panelled doors and sash windows.

Located adjacent to St Alphege Church in the heart of the town centre; these superb houses are so perfectly located to take full advantage of the excellent local amenities offered by the town which provides both useful shopping facilities, a real cafe culture of contemporary bistros and bakeries and of course the great selection of restaurants and bars. Those familiar with the town centre will appreciate the vibrant and modern Touchwood Centre with the multiplex cinema, The Core Theatre and the library.

Schooling in Solihull is of particular renown and being located adjacent to St Alphege School there is little doubt of the catchment area. Tudor Grange Secondary School is located in nearby Blossomfield Road on the Solihull Secondary Schools Complex and there is of course Solihull Sixth Form College on Widney Manor Road. At the junction with the Warwick Road and New Road is Solihull School providing a private education option within a very short walk from these delightful period properties.

Park Road itself leads to the entrance of Malvern and Brueton Park and Nature Reserve which is a vast area of open space for dog walking and general recreation. Solihull towns motto of 'Urbs in Rure' could not be more true for these Edwardian houses which really offer a rare opportunity to combine the best of both worlds.

From Solihull Railway Station one can catch the train to Birmingham City Centre and of course take the Chiltern train to London Marylebone. Whereas those looking to take advantage of the Midland Motorway Network, some 1.5 miles away is Junction 5 of the M42 which of course gives direct access via the newer motorway junction 5A to Birmingham Airport and International Railway Station with the faster London train.

Being in their current ownership for in excess of 30 years - these properties offer a rare opportunity to acquire a charming period home in a real prime town centre location.

Both of the houses have been altered and extended throughout their lifetime and while sitting side by side offer alternative living arrangements. To the rear of the properties are good sized gardens with a southerly aspect which afford the possibility for further extension (subject to necessary planning permissions) where any buyer could add a contemporary open plan living space to create the perfect blend of traditional character with modern living.

The accommodation within this charming property comprises of a porch entrance, reception hallway with original tiled flooring and open spindle turned staircase rising to the first floor, guest cloaks WC, two reception rooms with decorative fireplaces, fitted kitchen with utility room and ground floor shower room off, three first floor bedrooms, family bathroom with shower, separate WC and fourth loft bedroom. There is driveway parking to the front and a good sized south facing rear garden.
