About The Property

Looking for a beautifully updated village home with character, a surprisingly generous garden and flexible space to work from home?

This charming end-of-terrace cottage in the heart of St Dogmaels has been thoughtfully modernised throughout, combining contemporary comforts with period character, while being just a short distance from the Teifi Estuary, Cardigan Bay coastline and the sandy beach at Poppit Sands.

Situated in the heart of the sought-after village of St Dogmaels, this attractive two-bedroom end-of-terrace home has been carefully updated by the current owners to create a property that feels both welcoming and practical. Recent improvements include a beautifully fitted kitchen, stylish family bathroom and en-suite, a modern wood-burning stove, mains gas central heating, upgraded insulation, triple glazing to the front, double glazing to the rear, and extensive landscaping of the gardens, making it a home ready to move straight into.

From the street, the property offers the added benefit of off-road parking for one vehicle, complete with removable security bollards. A useful side storage shed, accessed from the front, houses the gas boiler and electricity meter while providing valuable storage for bicycles, tools or outdoor equipment.

The entrance porch opens into a hallway with an understairs cupboard and attractive patterned flooring that immediately sets the tone for the quality of the renovation. To the front of the house, the lounge is a comfortable and relaxing space centred around a recently installed inset wood-burning stove with a slate hearth, creating a lovely focal point during the cooler months. The room flows naturally into the dining area, where a striking wood-panelled feature wall adds character before double doors lead through into the impressive kitchen.

One of the standout features of the home is undoubtedly the newly fitted kitchen. Designed with both family life and entertaining in mind, it offers an excellent range of matching wall and base units complemented by wood-effect worktops and a central island with breakfast bar seating. Integrated appliances include a dishwasher, washing machine and fridge freezer, while the island also incorporates a built-in wine chiller. The generous layout creates a sociable hub of the home, with direct access out into the rear garden.

Upstairs, the split-level landing creates an interesting layout. The principal bedroom enjoys lovely views across the landscaped rear garden and benefits from the addition of a smart en-suite shower room, adding a level of convenience rarely found in cottages of this style.

The second double bedroom sits to the front of the property and enjoys attractive views across the village towards the historic Abbey ruins and surrounding countryside. Exposed timber beams add warmth and character, while the updated family bathroom serves the first floor with both a bath and a separate corner shower, together with a skylight that fills the room with natural light.

A fixed ladder from the landing provides access to the converted attic room. While not an official bedroom due to the access arrangement, it is an exceptionally useful space currently arranged as a home office and occasional guest room. Exposed A-frame beams, useful eaves storage and a generous Velux window create a bright and characterful room with elevated views across the rooftops towards the Abbey and church.

Externally:
Outside, the rear garden is another real highlight. Carefully redesigned and landscaped, it offers far more space than first impressions suggest. Immediately outside the kitchen is a paved seating area, ideal for outdoor dining, with steps leading up to the main garden. Attractive planting, fenced boundaries and established shrubs create clearly defined areas, while raised vegetable beds and gravel pathways provide plenty of opportunities for keen gardeners.

At the far end of the garden sits an excellent timber summer house with power and lighting already connected. Currently used as a home office, it could equally provide a hobby room, studio or occasional guest accommodation. Beyond this are an additional storage shed and the charming remains of the property's original pigsty, adding another reminder of the cottage's history.

A detached single garage, located just a short walk from the property, is also available by separate negotiation, offering additional storage or parking if required.

Properties that combine character, modern improvements and such versatile outside space are increasingly difficult to find. Early viewing is highly recommended to appreciate everything this beautifully presented home has to offer.
