The Property

Inside

The front door opens directly into the impressive vaulted sitting and dining room, which immediately showcases the scale and character of this striking barn conversion. A wonderful double-height ceiling, exposed stone walls and substantial original timbers are complemented by extensive glazing, allowing natural light to flood through the accommodation. A wood burning stove provides an attractive focal point to the sitting area, while the beautiful oak staircase and galleried first-floor landing add further architectural interest. The open-plan arrangement works particularly well, with the sitting and dining area flowing naturally through to the substantial kitchen and dining room. The kitchen is fitted with an extensive range of high quality Shaker-style units, complemented by generous work surfaces, an integrated double oven and induction hob. There is plenty of space for a large dining table, while direct access to the garden and terrace makes this an ideal space for both everyday family life and entertaining. The photographs particularly show the impressive proportions of the kitchen and the amount of storage and preparation space available.

Adjoining the kitchen is a well-equipped utility room, with further fitted units, sink and space for laundry appliances, as well as its own external door. There is also a ground-floor cloakroom. Positioned off the principal living accommodation is a separate study with useful storage, providing an ideal home-working space without compromising the main living areas. Completing the ground floor is a generous double bedroom with its own en-suite shower room, providing particularly versatile accommodation for guests, relatives or anyone requiring a bedroom on the ground floor.

The oak staircase rises through the centre of the property to a striking galleried landing and mezzanine area, which wraps around and overlooks the vaulted living accommodation below. The height of the space, exposed timbers and extensive glazing all help to retain the character and drama of the original barn. The first floor provides three further double bedrooms, each with attractive vaulted ceilings and exposed beams, giving the rooms a lovely sense of character and space. The principal bedroom is particularly generous and benefits from its own en-suite shower room, while the second double bedroom also has an en-suite and enjoys an attractive outlook over the garden. A further double bedroom is served by the family bathroom

Throughout the property, considerable care has been taken to retain the character of the original barn, with exposed stonework and structural timbers sitting alongside contemporary glazing and a high quality modern finish. Karndean flooring and underfloor heating feature across the ground floor, with carpeting to the bedrooms and first floor. The property is heated by an air source heat pump.

Outside

Garden

The garden is a lovely feature of the property, offering a good amount of private outside space and making the most of the rural setting. There are two paved seating areas immediately adjoining the house, including a more private terrace off the kitchen and dining room, ideal for outdoor dining and entertaining. A second paved area sits beside the main living space, giving another spot to sit out and enjoy the garden. The remainder is mainly laid to lawn, with an open and sunny feel and attractive views across the surrounding countryside. Traditional stone walling adds plenty of character, while timber fencing provides definition to the boundaries. There is also a substantial garden shed, providing useful storage. The outside space complements the barn particularly well, with plenty of room for seating, entertaining and enjoying the outlook.

Parking is provided by a two-bay carport, giving useful covered parking for two vehicles. The property also forms part of an exclusive courtyard development of just five converted barns, with the parking arranged conveniently within the development and close to the house. The courtyard setting provides straightforward
